Recreation Program At Park Will Start Monday

The Mokena park district will begin its annual recreation program for youngsters next Monday, June 15. Miss Gayle Harling will be in charge again.

The program is geared for youngsters ranging in age from 6 to 13. There will be softball, badminton and many other competitive games. At the request of Miss Harling, there will be no archery this year, it being described as too hazardous when a group of children are engaging in other past-times in the same area.

The sessions are to run daily, Monday thru Friday, for eight weeks. The hours will be from 9 a.m. to noon, and from 1 to 4 o'clock in the afternoons.

The park district recreation program has been quite popular in the past and the sessions have been well attended.

"We endeavor to find something for the youngsters to do in vacation time," said Charles Swanberg, president of the park board, "and from the response in the past they seem to like this summer program. All of the youngsters in the district are invited to participate in the games and other forms of recreation available."

The park district now has two complete playgrounds set up in Community park, one at the east end and one at the west. Both are furnished with equipment that youngsters enjoy.

Nancy Smith Gets Court Clerk Job

Nancy Smith, 18, of Frankfort, a graduate of Lincoln-Way high school this month, has been appointed by Circuit Clerk J. Elmer Swarbro as a deputy to serve the magistrate court of the 2nd Dist., Mokena.

Miss Smith was named to succeed Mrs. Violet Wieten-dorf, who resigned.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Harold Smith, who is employed by the circuit court at Joliet and is the Republican nominee for county auditor.

Many adult groups use the park for picnics when it is picnic weather and there is a pavilion there too for shelter in case of sudden showers.

In the winter a skating surface is provided in the park and it has been quite popular.

The park also provides diamonds for the Little League and Babe Ruth teams.

A community celebration of the Fourth of July is to be held in the park that will be climaxed with a fireworks display. It is expected that many persons will take advantage of the occasion to hold family picnics.

Letters To The Editor

ON ZONING

Dear Sir:

I was shocked to learn of the decision of the Zoning Board of Appeals in denying the petition for a variation of the old News-Bulletin building. This was a tragic mistake.

If any building in Mokena has an historical use for commercial purposes, this is it. To convert it to residential use would entail the spending of quite a sum of money and even such expenditure would not create a desirable residential bit of property, located on top of the Rock Island tracks and the fire station with their constant noises.

The Zoning Board of Appeals was created to correct mistakes and to pay heed to objectors to zoning patterns. In the hearing on this case, there were NO objectors present nor were any objections read. But a 3-2 vote was later announced that denied the legitimate petition. (The negative votes were cast by Hamilton, Hosert and Shewske).

To go into the history of the building; it was constructed about 1849 and was acquired by Martin Heim, maternal grandfather of Will Semmler. He operated it as a store selling groceries and candy and later beer (whiskey was not sold), the beer was kept cool in the cellar constructed for this purpose.

Later Mr. Semmler's father had a shoemaker shop there also. In 1919 a job printing business was started and shortly after, the News-Bulletin was established.

The newspaper was sold in 1952, moved last year, and a suitable tenant has been sought, for the property ever since. Printing activity is classed as a light industry usually, - or the heaviest of commercial class.

In October 1963 an apparent suitable tenant was found. It was to manufacture small gaskets with manufacturing processes much less noisy than printing. A request to the village board early in November, (or was it a notification of it?) for permission to lease the property started a strange sequence of buck-passing and delays and stalling that seems inconceivable. During this period there was no modern zoning law nor was there any effective zoning machinery. A notification was received however that a zoning ordinance would be passed in June; (it was passed in the middle of May); the zoning board of appeals heard the case May 25!

The Village Attorney claims to have sent a letter to the petitioner saying the present activities could not continue. No such letter was received, ordinarily such letters are sent registered mail.

There was considerable confusion in this Zoning Board of Appeals decision if rumors are to be credited, - some are not very flattering. It is not surprising that this miscarriage of justice could occur in the first decision of the board, but it seems clear that the historical use of the property has been commercial or light industry. An active tenant was sought to take over the property; part of the delay in permitting the tenant to take over rests on the activity on the part of village officials in discouraging such tenants although no laws were violated at the time.

The Chamber of Commerce strongly supported the petition. It is hoped that a re-hearing will be held promptly, to re-examine the case. Otherwise it will indicate that the Chamber and other civic-minded organizations or citizens will finance a court appeal.

Sincerely
Fred G. Lehmann

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

We are deep in a scientific revolution as well as a marketing revolution. The market accepts new products with scientific over-tones, with considerable speed today. It is not so many years ago when introduction of new items was a long and slow process.

Examples of the slowness to accept new items is had in the early detergents competing with soap. The detergents did not foam (suds) and were not a marketing success. A foaming agent to create the image of sudsing was added and success started. Then washing machines had trouble with the suds and now they use smaller amounts of the foaming agents.

As to marketing, direct to manufacturer buying, is the custom of retailers generally. Instead of discouraging retailer purchases directly from manufacturer, this is now often considered most desirable.

The manufacturer is closer to his retail outlets and can schedule his production on a steadier production curve than was possible in many lines, thru the old wholesale channels. The comparatively small retail outlet now has closer contact with his manufacturers than was possible a few years ago. Fast transportation has made this possible.

Forbes Magazine June 1, 1964 has a discussion of the progress toward "Pay TV". The author notes that 12 years ago he noted, on the pages, about pay TV, "The possibilities --- are limitless".

Eight years ago Malcolm S. Forbes wrote another editorial supporting pay TV, "Probably all manner of conflicting vested interests have selfish economic reasons for throwing roadblocks in the path of a sensibly regulated pay - as - you - see television system, but there is a sufficient pot of gold at the end of the rainbow to keep its advocated plugging. --- as the public increasingly realizes the value of subscription television, they will desire into demand, that will break barriers of opposition and FCC red tape. The sooner the better".

Mr. Forbes calls attention to a few of the changes which will come about with pay-TV.

We believe that the changes will have heaviest impact on the well known net works, but that the impact will be felt down to the securing of talent and give the producers of programs, greater control of the talent used. For quite some time there have been persistent rumors that the talent agents with well publicized names in the entertainment field, are able to induce use of their less desirable names and talent, in order to secure services of the well publicized names.

Some cynics note that the talent agencies have considerable power in political circles as they make it their business to have performers available for political extravaganzas, etc.

There have been some well publicized names with unsavory personal lives and associates, who need not be disturbed by their public image as they seem to be well protected.

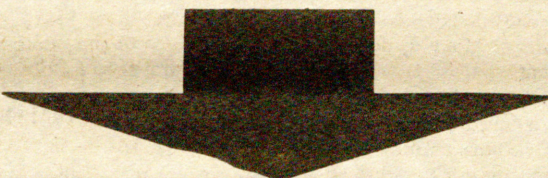

The amounts expected to be involved in gross income of pay-TV productions, is likely to force changes and risks too great to permit easy domination.

As Mr. Forbes states, the astute investor will not necessarily be changing his investment position at this time, but certainly will be thinking of pay-TV and its financial impact.

Seeks Design For New Police Patch

The Woman's Auxilliary of the Orland Park police department is conducting a contest. The auxilliary is looking for ideas for a new shoulder patch to be worn by policemen on duty.

The present patch is centered with a red leaf and around it in white letters is "Orland Park Police." The trouble with this patch, according to Mrs. Kathleen Toner, president of the auxilliary, is that the red leaf fades and when the patch is worn on a shirt it poses a laundry problem.

The Auxilliary plans to award three prizes, a first, second and third for the best designs. The patches are limited in size to 3 1/2 by 4 inches. Mrs. Toner pointed out that the Auxilliary reserved the right to change any of the designs submitted. What it wants is an idea. The contest will close July 15.

Real Cool, Man! Those NI-Gas Summer Rates

Owners of gas air conditioners will not only be keeping their homes more comfortable this summer, but they will be doing it at a lower cost.

A special four month summer rate for users of gas air conditioning has been announced by Northern Illinois Gas Company. The new residential cooling-season rate is nearly 50 percent less than before.

Under the new rate, an average home in northern Illinois can be cooled for as little as 25¢ per day. The attractive rate, coupled with the fact that gas air conditioners last three to four times longer than other units because of fewer moving parts, is expected to push the popularity of gas units higher, it was said.

In addition to the special low rate, Northern Illinois Gas Company offers its gas air conditioning customers free five year service on their residential cooling units, and for prospective customers, free home cooling surveys.

Many homes equipped with forced air heating systems are well on their way to summer air conditioning, since they already have the duct work for carrying cool air to all parts of the home. A survey will establish the effectiveness of the present duct system for cooling use. It will also indicate the size of the gas air conditioning unit needed to cool the house.

Zoning Board Splits 3 & 2 Over Variation

By a vote of three to two the Mokena zoning board of appeals denied a petition for variation which would have permitted light manufacture in an area marked residential under the new zoning ordinance which became effective May 6.

The petition was filed by Mrs. Margaret Semmler, former newspaper publisher, and the property involved is that formerly used, as a printing plant on Mokena's Front street.

According to the presentation made to the zoning board the property has been used for commercial or manufacturing purposes for a century.

Officials of the Mokena Chamber of Commerce and neighbors appeared before the zoning board in favor of the petitioner. No one appeared to object to the variation. Later one of the zoning board members said that a letter had been received from someone in the village protesting the variation but no mention of such a mis-man of the zoning board and Hans Mueller, a member of the village board. Voting against it were Walter Shewski, Arthur Hostert and Wendell Hamilton.

The petitioner can either appeal the case to the circuit court or can ask the zoning board for a rehearing, it was explained.

Junior Colleges

Several years ago when the law permitting establishment of junior college districts was new, Supt. A. Hunter Chapman, of Lincoln-Way high school, suggested to state educational officials that the law be amended to turn the job over to the state.

That was at the time when the state universities were seeking funds to expand their facilities to meet increasing enrollments. Bonds, running into the millions, were approved by the voters for the purpose.

Supt. Chapman suggested that instead of spending the money on enlarging existing schools that a junior college system be set up to relieve the burden and at the same time bring higher education within reach of more students. This suggestion, which was more of a private one made to friends rather than officially done, is given official status now by Noble Puffer, Cook county's superintendent of schools.

Supt. Puffer has suggested to the state board of higher education that its so-called master plan covering two year colleges be amended to turn the job over to the state. The master plan advocates formation of a junior college board of trustees to supervise the two-year college program but would still leave the formation of junior college districts up to local initiative.

Supt. Puffer doesn't believe it can be done that way. He points out that one crushing defeat in two elections called to establish locally supported junior colleges has convinced him that "establishment of junior colleges by the initiative of local communities will come very slowly--much too slowly to meet the needs of our high school graduates."

Apparently the "crushing defeat" alluded to involved the proposed formation of a junior college district that would have included Lincoln-Way, Carl Sandburg and most of the other high schools in the Southwest Suburban Conference.

The question of another tax played a part, no doubt, but there was more than that involved. The district itself would have been a wealthy one and the chances are that the tax necessary to operate it would have been comparatively low. The thing that seemed to bother a great many people then was who was going to be in control.

In the Lincoln-Way district people saw Cook County running the show and there were people in the Cook County districts who were looking askance at the Will county portion of the proposed junior college set-up as Johnny-come-latelies and poor relations.

Some of the Lincoln-Way district people are equally cool to throwing in with a proposed junior college district centering on Joliet on the grounds that they would have little voice in its operation.

It would appear that whatever boundaries are suggested will meet with opposition so about the only way districts could be set up would be thru arbitrary action by the state. Supt. Puffer also believes that the state should finance the system altho he states that he is reluctant to accept state control.

We don't like the idea of state control any better than Supt. Puffer but if we have to have a junior college system that is probably the only practical way to have one.

One of the suggestions of the committee on higher education is to offer more vocational or technical training courses in junior colleges. Whether such courses should come under the head of higher education is questionable.

Also questionable is how far the public can be expected to go in meeting educational costs. There are many who feel, and with considerable justification, that the taxpayers have fulfilled their obligation in providing youngsters with a grade and high school education; that to go on to college is a problem for the students and their families to work out. There are scholarships, loans and other means available for getting a college degree for those who need help.

Lighting is another thing that affects egg production at this time of year. Tests show that restricting light on pullets until they are 20 to 22 weeks old delays sexual maturity, but increases total egg production. Delayed sexual maturity also reduces the number of small eggs from pullets, results in a more uniform peak in production and slightly increases egg weight throughout the production period. Lights for growing pullets can be controlled in two ways. One method is to restrict the daily light to ten hours from about the 10th to the 20th week. Another method is to start day-old chicks with 24 hours of light daily and reduce it weekly until the pullets are 20 to 22 weeks old. However, an increasing amount of light is desirable during the laying period. But a constant amount of 13 to 15 hours daily will also work satisfactorily. Light is important because it affects the pituitary gland, causing it to release an egg-stimulating hormone.

Tomorrow, June 12, Salvation Army doughnuts--on this occasion the paper kind--tags made up to look like doughnuts--will be offered for sale thruout Chicagoland.

The proceeds will be used to aid the Salvation Army carry on with its various services among the needy, the discouraged and the lost.

The story of the Salvation Army doughnut -- the eating kind -- goes back to 1918 when American troops were fighting in France in the World War I. There are many of us that remember.

There were a number of Civilian organizations engaged in service work represented in France those days but for the men at the front the Salvation Army probably stands out above the rest.

It didn't have too many people working there, compared to some of the organizations, and it furnished its own transport, flivvers of some description for the most part. And whatever it had it was ready to share with the servicemen.

If there was ever a do-it-themselves outfit, that was it. They gave favors but asked none. As far as I know from report and personal observation the Salvation Army Lassies were the only women that the A.E.F. allowed to penetrate the areas just behind the fighting.

They would come rattling up in a little truck and in a matter of minutes would have it unloaded, a fire going, the pan or kettle for the grease in which the doughnuts were cooked would be on and so would the vessels in which they boiled water, made coffee and got the soup going, and of course by then one of them would have a batch of doughnut dough waiting.

They carried their own wood for the fire, and they toted the water. Naturally, some of the soldiers would help but that was strictly voluntary. The women didn't ask for help.

Maybe you would never think of a doughnut or a cup of hot, homemade soup as things coming directly from heaven, but maybe you never were cold, bone tired and couldn't seem to remember when you didn't live in wet clothes. Or maybe you never laid out in the mud, wounded so you couldn't walk or crawl, and maybe 12 of 24 hours went by before you were found brought in to a clearing station from where ambulances and trucks -- mostly trucks really, because ambulances were few -- carried you back to evacuation hospitals and from there to the bases.

I remember when the Argonne push had started, of a Salvation Army girl up at Varennes. She was making doughnuts and serving those and coffee to guys going up and guys coming back, when a shell landed. Fortunately no one was on that particular spot at the time but it was close enough for a fragment to come hurtling by grazing the doughnut kettle and spilling all the grease. Losing that grease made the girl pretty angry and she had some sharp things to say about those Heineke gunners. But she went on serving coffee.

We had a clearing station not far from there, at Neuilly. Casualties were heavy and the floor of the church was covered with wounded, lying on litters. That church was just hanging together. It had been shelled and bombed so there were great holes in the walls and roof but it was shelter of a sort for the wounded.

There were three or four Salvation Army women there and they worked day and night. The only rest they had was when they would stretch out in some corner, out of the way, for a couple of hours sleep. They were the greatest morale builders I ever saw.

Taking turns at tending their fire, making doughnuts, soup and coffee, the others carried buckets of hot water to the church. Miraculously they produced wash basins, soap, and wash cloths. They washed the hands and faces of the wounded, accompanying the action, with a gently mock scolding. How many men they attended I can't tell you but it was way up in the hundreds.

"How could you get your face so dirty?" I heard one ask a man. He mumbled something about lying in a muddy shell hole.

"Nonsense," she retorted, "there was water there wasn't there? Next time pick a place where the mud is clean."

"Don't tell me you didn't have any soap," I heard another say, "my mother always told me no matter how bad off a person might be he can always borrow a cake of soap."

Well, they talked to these guys and they got the men to talking. They fed them and they got them perking again. It was like a breath from home and men that had looked hopeless were grinning or at least had traces of smiles when we loaded them up to send back.

"A lot of these men that pull thru," said one of the doctors, "can thank these Salvation Army women for the chance. They're wonderful."

And indeed they were. I've always had a warm spot in my heart for the Salvation Army ever since. I hope everyone is good to them on their Doughnut day tomorrow for they are always good to everybody.

A brilliant orange safety emblem can help make the highways safer for farmers driving slow-moving vehicles and also give auto drivers more warning time. The new safety emblem available for farm machines is used to help identify slow-moving vehicles -- vehicles moving at less than 20 miles per hour. The emblem is an equilateral triangle with a point up. In daylight, the center is a fluorescent orange color. At night the border reflects red in the light of head lamps.

LET ME EMPHASIZE THAT THE EMBLEM MUST NOT BE USED FOR OTHER PURPOSES, SUCH AS ON PICK-UP TRUCKS OR ON GATES.

Illinois law requires a red flag to be displayed on all slow-moving vehicles. However, limp flags are difficult to see in the daytime and and organization was represented either by marchers or by decorated car floats. The cooperation of the local groups, which also included two pieces of fire equipment from the Frankfort fire department to lead-off and to close the parade, was appreciated by all concerned.

The parade began its march at 12 noon, and was followed at approximately 1:30 p.m. by the first game of the boys baseball season. That first game saw the matching of the Red Bombers against the Purple Cobras with the Purple Cobras winning the game by the score of six to four.

The second game of the season was played on Sunday with the Red Bombers pitted against the Blue Rockets. Another close game saw the Red Bombers the victors this time with the score being seven to five.

The Summit Hill Boy Scout Troop Number 10, which was to have held its regular monthly newspaper drive on last Saturday morning, June 6, re-scheduled the newspaper drive to be held this coming Saturday morning, June 13, instead.

The Arbury Hills Kindergarten class held an entertainment program at the school in which the children themselves participated. This program was followed by a picnic which was held at the Mokena Community Park. These festivities were held on their last day of school, Friday, June 5.

The Arbury Hills Kindergarten Organization will hold their regular monthly general membership meeting at the school next Tuesday evening, June 16, at 8:30. The hostess will be Mrs. Lee Ann Blecha.

There is no regularly scheduled meeting of the group for the month of July. There is a scheduled meeting for August.

The Trikenia Neighborhood Girl Scout Day Camp will be held the week of July 20 through 24 from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. at Van Horne Woods. Girls from the Arbury Hills Troops will be picked up by bus from the Arbury Hills school parking lot at 8:15 a.m. and will be returned to the parking lot at 4:15 p.m.

Volunteer day camp workers from Arbury Hills include Mrs. John Kennard, Mrs. Eugene Pasky, Mrs. Lawrence Riley and Mrs. Robert Lindeman of Brownie Scout Troop Number 332. The volunteers also include Mrs. Vernon Crowder, Mrs. John Erkmann, Mrs. LeRoy Harris, Mrs. Marie Noles and Mrs. William Kilgore of Junior Scout Troop 103. Miss Cynthia Markland and Miss Barbara Harris are volunteers for the Day Camp nursery.

The Day Camp committee advises that they still require crayons, temporary paints and metal band aid boxes to use in the crafts classes.

The Arbury Hills eighth graduates held their banquet at the Valley View Farm Restaurant on Wednesday evening, June 3. In addition to the excellent meal provided, there were four awards given out for excellence. Kathy Monson was given two awards, one for spelling and the second for scholarship. The other two awards given out were for citizenship to Keith Burt and John Chesnut.

The eighth graders presented the school with a plaque of a bust of the late President John F. Kennedy, and they were in turn presented with an imprint picture of each one's hands joined one to another. This gift was presented by Mr. Charles Reeves their teacher.

The Summit Hill Parent Teacher Group presented the annual scholarship for a graduate of the Arbury Hills School who is graduating from Lincoln-Way High School. The award was given by John Smith, past president of the Summit Hill Parent - Teacher Group. The award was given to Michael Landfried.

Apply For New Wheat Allotment

A new farm wheat allotment may be established for 1965 crop wheat for farms that did not have a 1964 allotment and meet eligibility requirements. Carl A. Bormet of the Cook county ASC Committee announced today. Altho there will be no restrictions on the planting or harvesting of wheat in 1965, Mr. Bormet said only those farmers with a 1965 allotment will be eligible to participate in the 1965 diversion and certificate program.

A 1965 wheat allotment will automatically be established for farms with wheat histories in the 1962-1964 period, or farms that planted wheat in any of the years 1959, 1960, and 1961.

To be eligible for a new farm allotment, the operator must expect to receive more than 50 percent of his income from the production of agricultural commodities on the farm and neither the owner nor the operator may have an interest in any other farm which has a 1965 allotment.

Applications for a new farm allotment must be filed in the county office on or before June 30, 1964. Mr. Bormet said that any interested producer who can meet these requirements should contact the county office before the final date for filing an application.

Krusemark Wins Top Honor For Milk Herd

Albert H. Krusemark, Frankfort, has qualified for The Holstein-Friesian Association of America's highest recognition for dairy farmers, the Progressive Breeders Award. The rigid requirements of this award for excellence in dairy cattle breeding and management practices have limited the honor to only 576 Registered Holstein breeding establishments, including 21 in Illinois. This is the first time that Mr. Krusemark has been so recognized.

To qualify for the Progressive Breeders Award, a Holstein breeder must meet standards for milk and butterfat production, body type improvement, herd health and development of home-bred animals.

The Krusemark herd completed its latest DHIR testing year with a lactation average of 14,605 lbs. of milk and 544 lbs. of butterfat, calculated on a two-milkings-per-day, 305-day, mature equivalent basis for 56 individual records.

The herd is also above breed average in the national Association's official classification for body type program. The Krusemark Holsteins have a breed age average of 102.1 per cent -- obtained by dividing the classification score of each cow by the average score of all Registered Holstein cows of the same age.

Recognition as a Progressive Breeder includes receipt of a certificate from the Association, the largest dairy cattle registry organization in the world representing nearly 41,500 members.

At a meeting of Holstein breeders from this area, a bronze plaque and year plate signifying the award will be presented to Mr. Krusemark.

3 L-W Faculty Members At Institutes

Three members of the Lincoln - Way high school math and science departments recently received notice of their acceptance at summer institutes. Staff members are Norman B. West, Math Dept., James High, Math Dept. and Ron Garrelts, Science Dept.

Mr. West was awarded one of thirty stipends available to secondary school teachers of mathematics who will attend the 1964 summer institute in mathematics from June 22 to Aug. 14 at Portland State college, Portland, Ore. This institute is supported by a grant from the National Science Foundation and includes courses on geometry, introduction to abstract algebra and a seminar on contemporary high school algebra. The institute emphasizes the exchange of ideas among teachers from various parts of the country who are doing similar work.

Mr. High will attend a National Science Foundation sponsored institute at Central Michigan university, Mt. Pleasant, Mich. The objectives of the institute are to provide the second and third phases in a sequence of related summer programs designed to increase the competence of secondary math teachers; to provide the first phase in a sequence of programs for teachers who have not yet had the opportunity to study modern mathematics, extensively and who are planning to work toward a Master's degree.

Mr. Garrelts was one of twenty teachers to receive a stipend to participate in an eight week summer institute at the Ohio State university sponsored jointly by the National Science Foundation and the Atomic Energy Commission. Freshmen North Of Rt. 83 To Enroll At Stagg High Altho the opening moments of the meeting were spent by W.O. Fisher, superintendent, in urging parents to vote in the special election this Saturday (see story elsewhere), the final coffee hour covered a wide range of subjects before it closed at 5 p.m. last Sunday.

The coffee hours, traditional in District 230, are scheduled seven times each year by Supt. Fisher to give parents and interested persons a chance to pose questions about the schools. About 75 parents of incoming freshmen attended the final session last Sunday.

Several of the questions concerned Amos Alonzo Stagg high school, a $2 million building scheduled for completion June 19. In response to a question about attendance, Fisher reiterated that "every student north of Route 83 who will be a freshman next year will go there. We expect to open the school this fall with an enrollment of about 250-275," he said.

The curriculum at the new school will be "about the same" as that at Carl Sandburg high school, Fisher said. "We are trying a few innovations at Stagg high which may later be effected at Carl Sandburg". One of these is a weighted system of grading "which will give students extra credit for work in honors classes," Fisher said.

From here the questioning ranged to the summer school session beginning June 22. Fisher told the parents that the summer school "will be bigger than ever this year. We expect an enrollment of about 1,200 including those taking part in the summer swimming and the recreational programs."

"About 70 per cent of the students who attend summer classes are getting some requirement out of the way so that they can take an elective course next fall," Fisher said. He added that it appeared now that four or five buses will be needed to provide transportation for the summer scholars.

The summer recreational program, being operated for the first time this year, will give students and adults an opportunity to "participate in a variety of activities. Later on, they can spend more time in those activities which particularly interest them," Fisher said. Purpose of the program is to provide instruction in a variety of recreational activities.

G. W. Davidson, principal of Carl Sandburg, announced that there is "a good possibility" that students can know their class schedules for next year by the middle of summer. "We are hoping that we can have them available for students after July 24," Davidson said.

In the past, students have reported to school during the week before classes opened to get their schedules. "If we can have them ready before summer school closes," Davidson said, "then we won't have 2,000 students crowding in during that last week."

Fisher also had a couple of pointers for parents of freshmen not now registered in District 230. "Be sure we know they are coming here next year. It is a trifle disconcerting to suddenly find we have more students than we anticipated," he added. From then on, he concluded parents of incoming freshmen will receive information about registration and the opening of school in the mail.

Ni Gas Establishes Industrial Site File

The Area Industrial Development (AID) department of Northern Illinois Gas Co. is now in the process of establishing a comprehensive industrial site file, according to Barton Juell, NI-Gas district superintendent.

Designed to provide detailed information on available sites for industrial firms interested in locating a plant in northern Illinois or expanding their present facilities in this vicinity, this file will also be available for use by all industrial development groups and industrial realtors in the area.

The site file, Juell continued, is being created by professional cartographers at the University of Illinois under NI-Gas direction. Industrial property owners and agents are being invited to submit their listings with the company.

In 1963, the gas company provided assistance to over 250 industries making arrangements to locate in this area. By conducting several AID meetings during the year, NI-Gas experts have been able to guide civic officials and interested citizens in the correct methods of attracting industry.

NI-Gas efforts in this field have been recognized by the Public Relations Society of America, Inc. and the American Gas Association for outstanding achievement in the field of economic development.

H. J. "Hack" Roth, manager of the department since 1954, is a member of Gov. Kerner's Randolph commission.

Judge Bartley Observes 25th Anniversary

Circuit Judge James V. Bartley, Joliet observed his 25th anniversary on the circuit bench of the 12th judicial circuit last Friday. He was first elected on June 5, 1939 and has served continuously since.

The 12th circuit is made up of Will, Kankakee and Iroquois counties and until the past year was served by three judges. Because of the heavy case load and the steadily growing population the legislature finally allowed the district to have another circuit judge. There are now four, plus two associate circuit judges.

A native of Shawneetown, Judge Bartley followed the footsteps of his father and grandfather in choosing the law as a career. His grandfather was a judge and his father, like many attorneys, turned to politics and served as a state senator. A brother, the late Joseph L. Bartley, served as state's attorney of Gallatin county.

Judge Bartley's presence in Joliet came about as a result of his first employment—as a page boy in the Illinois senate. There he met the late Senator Richard J. Barr and when Bartley became a lawyer later on the senator induced Bartley to come to Joliet. That was in 1917, two years after the young attorney had been licensed to practice. In the first world war he served in the Navy and is a past Commander of the Harwood post, American Legion.

When Bartley came to Joliet the law firm in which he became associated was Barr, McNaughton and Barr, later to become Barr and Barr. He remained with the firm until his election to the circuit bench in 1939. During those 22 years he dealt with practically every type of case, many of which concerned progressive measures in the community.

After his election to the bench Judge Bartley instituted many reforms that helped to clear the dockets and the way to a speedy trial for those who desired one.

After his first re-election in 1945 Judge Bartley was appointed to the appellate court of the fourth district which is centered at Mount Vernon and included his birthplace on the Ohio river. He resigned this honorary post in February, 1948 because he felt it unfair to spend so much time away from Will county with the case load building up. His opinions as an appellate judge are cited frequently, especially one on libel which is regarded by members of the legal profession as the leading case of this nature in Illinois.

Despite the press of duties in the 12th circuit, Judge Bartley has been assigned by the supreme court to preside in other counties, including Cook, Piatt, Kane, DeKalb, DuPage, Gallatin and Sangamon. Judge Bartley is rated by attorneys as an excellent lawyer. His knowledge of the law is demonstrated by the fact that he has had few reversals in the higher courts.

Now serving his six-year term, which has been extended from June until November under the new judicial act, the judge is an announced candidate for re-election. This time the judges are not permitted to campaign nor are they opposed. The voters will cast their ballots Yes or No on the question of whether a judge is to be retained in office.

So Judge Bartley is contenting himself with running his courtroom, renewing acquaintances with old friends, and continuing his active role in community, civic, patriotic and religious affairs.

We've heard complaints from customers about offensive telephone sales calls. We're trying to do something about them. If a rude or persistent salesman calls you, and doesn't stop talking after your polite refusal, simply hang up.

There is another side, however. Many good salesmen give you news of products and services, save you shopping time and help you get in on a bargain. And, many people who couldn't work at other jobs—shut-ins for instance—are able to support themselves by telephone selling.

The Real Problem

... is to convince businesses to use the phone without offending you. That's why we offer them free training. All they need to do is call their telephone company business office.

Send for Free Booklet

We also offer a free booklet: "Ten Pitfalls to Telephone Selling" (if you, or someone you know, would like a copy, just send the coupon below). Unfortunately, not all businesses take advantage of this free help, so, we repeat: if you get an offensive sales call, hang up.

Mr. Robert Alonzo, Chicago, III.—"The ride is smoother and the starting and power are much better than in my Chevrolet. There's lots of room in the trunk. It's a better car from bumper to bumper than the Chevrolet."

Mrs. Hugh W. Parker, Cicero, Ill.—"What a luxury! The ride is smooth. It's the quietest car I've ever been in, and there's almost too much room for our needs. Naturally my husband thinks more about how the car performs. He says that it has plenty of power and holds the road well. I wouldn't know about any of that... all I know is that it suits me to a 'T'."

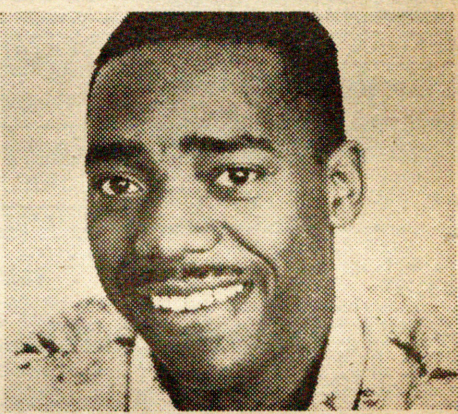

Mr. Martin Galley, Chicago, Ill.—"Every year I trade my Karmann-Ghia for a new one. This year I saw a Mustang and that was it! I got the 6-cylinder model and it gets over 20 miles per gallon."

Mrs. J. W. McCurry, Oak Lawn, Ill.—"It is easy to drive. Seats are comfortable. The car has lots of leg room and that's important because my husband is 6' 2". Our big Ford Custom is just as easy to handle and park as our old Corvair and it's a much better car."

Mr. Francis Mueller, Chicago, Ill.—"I never really liked Fords but a Fairlane 500 4-Door caught my eye. I traded a Pontiac Tempest in on it and there is no comparison. The Fairlane 500 just holds the road better. It seems narrower when it comes to parking and it fits easier into our 18-foot garage. The room inside seems about the same, though. I also like the comments I get on the car in the company parking lot."

Mr. W. Larence Clark, Chicago, Ill.—"My new Falcon is my first car. I like the styling and I knew that Ford had always served my family well so I bought the '64 Falcon. I am very well satisfied with it and I am pleasantly surprised that the handling, feel, and ride are as good as in a big car. My wife and I both think that it is economical and that's pretty important. It still has plenty of room and power. It has very good brakes and it is easy to park even though we do not have power steering."

THE SWITCH TO FORD IS NOW A STAMPEDE!

Foreground, Mustang Hardtop, Ford Galaxie 500 XL Hardtop. Center, Fairlane 500 Hardtop. Background, Thunderbird Hardtop, Falcon Sprint Hardtop.

The figures tell the story. Super Torque Ford sales are rising so fast—up 65% on hardtops alone—that we've had to double production in our Chicago plant. Look at Thunderbird. Fabulous car. Fabulous sales—up 67% over last year. Falcon couldn't be hotter. It is selling almost as much as Valiant and Chevy II combined. As for Mustang, wow! No new car ever arrived in Chicago with such explosive impact. And now that Mustang has been added to the stable, the switch to Ford is an all-out stampede! Those are the facts. And, if you'd like to see what's behind it all, see your Ford Dealer and test-drive a stampede-starter from Ford today.

Guetter Would Form Gun Club At Orland

One of those concrete and steel covered pits at the Nike launching site at the south end of Orland Park could be converted into an excellent pistol and small-bore rifle range, according to Orland's police commissioner, Frank Guetter.

He is prepared to construct such a range, providing there are enough persons interested — young or older — and he can raise the funds to finance such a project.

The pits are about 100 by 200 feet. There would be no difficulty in constructing butts but there would be a cost for partitioning and soundproofing. Soundproofing would be necessary, Guetter explained, because otherwise the sound of gunshots bouncing off those concrete walls and roof would be deafening.

The police commissioner, who is a member of the National Rifle Association, has been in contact with police pistol units of the Association and has been informed they are willing to help in establishing a range that would serve the entire neighborhood, especially those young Davy Crocketts and Dan'l Boones who have been doing sneak shooting and in some instances causing property damage.

Guetter believes a rifle club, with his department providing supervision and instruction, would eliminate such incidents.

He would also have a rifle club for the girls so if there are any budding little Annie Oakleys in the area they will have a chance to develop their talent. Anyone interested in forming gun clubs are asked to by Commissioner Guetter to get in touch with him.

Distaff Golf

BY BIRDIE McDIVOT

Hurrah! We can now announce winners each week for the Willow Run Women's Golf club. Last week the lucky ladies were Toot Muehler and Helen Churchill, 1st and 2nd respectively, for low net scores. This week 3rd and 4th low net will win.

This week ended our Tuesday golf lessons. We appreciate the time and effort on the part of Tom Geary, and I must add patience, too. We sincerely hope that we will progress in our game so that he will not feel it was all in vain. We hope he will continue to kibitz from the side lines, especially on the first tee.

Last Thursday morning it was really wild on the course. Golf balls were flying every which way. One very enthusiastic player hit the ball on No. 4 fairway, it hit a small, defenseless tree and bounced in back of her. She was chagrined to find that she was further from the green than before she had hit the ball. It seems that some days we just can't make progress. That's this crazy, fascinating game called golf.

Another poor girl had the misfortune of tearing her shorts while climbing under the fence on No. 8 fairway to get her wild ball. It is a good thing she only had one more hole to play at the edge of the course.

You women who haven't joined us yet and are still thinking about it; Can't you see the fun we're having? See you next week?

Education At Crossroads In District 230

Voters To Chart Course At Election On June 13

The future of the instructional programs at Carl Sandburg and Amos Alonzo Stagg high schools is up to the voters on Saturday, June 13, 1964. The contrast is clear--quality and progress in education or retrenchment and mediocrity. You have provided the buildings--will you provide the funds for the teaching program? Your children are your most precious asset. Do you want a good quality educational program or will you settle for anything so long as it is inexpensive? Keep these facts in mind as you vote:

(1) The increase in the educational tax rate for 1965, if the referendum is passed, will be approximately 5 cents or $5 on property assessed at $10,000. It is expected that the full 21 cents rate increase would be used only as needed and that seven to ten years would pass before the whole increase was used.

(2) The monies requested are NOT for building purposes. Enough funds are available for the building program now in progress.

(3) Residents have consistently indicated their preference for a residential area over an industrial area. This type of choice almost automatically insures higher taxes.

(4) Many residents moved to Palos and Orland Townships so that their children could attend our high school rather than other south and southwestern suburban high schools. This is an indication of the respect for our high schools in the metropolitan area.

☐ YES

Means

1. A competitive salary schedule resulting in attracting good, experienced teachers and holding excellent teachers already on staff.
2. Maintain smaller class sizes with more personal attention by teachers.
3. New improved and modern instructional equipment and textbooks.
4. An improved broad extra - curricular program.
5. A growing and vital, up-to-date high school library.
6. Opportunities for all to participate in athletic and extra-curricular program.
7. Opportunity for the Board of Education to make long-range plans for the improvement of the education for the leaders of tomorrow.
8. Continuation of the "lighted" school house policy with many activities scheduled for teenagers of the community.
9. Continued emphasis on excellence in the entire educational program.
10. Sound financial operation of the school district -- the biggest business in the community.

Chart 1 below makes it obvious that our District 230 education dollar is buying a superior product now for a smaller investment--however, it would be foolhardy to assume that we can continue to maintain present standards--in the face of rising costs--in the face of an evident, all out effort on the part of our neighboring communities to improve their position--and in the face of a continued disparity between enrollment growth and assessed evaluation in our District 230 as evidenced in the projections in Chart 2.

The bar graph shows the total tax rate of District 230 in relation to other south suburban high schools composed primarily of residential areas. The next rate to this district is Blue Island, 9 cents higher.

Graphically illustrated is the fact that the enrollment of high school students has grown 65 per cent in the past five years, while the source of funds has increased only 30 per cent. The projection through 1970 shows a deterioration of the financial problems rather than an improvement.

☐ NO

Means

1. Unattractive salary schedules with loss of better teachers to better paying suburban positions.
2. Deficit financing with large interest payments each year on necessary loans.
3. Increase in the number of beginning teachers with no experience to keep the cost of teachers' salaries as low as possible.
4. A limitation of the extra - curricular program.
5. Larger class sizes with less help for students who cannot catch on rapidly.
6. Aging and obsolescent teaching material, equipment and textbooks.
7. A greatly reduced or limited athletic program.
8. Limited library facilities and library books.
9. A continuous struggle to keep our schools abreast of the country's educational system, resulting from fighting a losing battle over each successive financing crisis.
10. A reduction or elimination of all evening or special activities, or a "locked" school house at night.
